

BOND CAMPAIGN IS BRINGING RESULTS; WORKERS ARE BUSY

D. OF I. APPORTIONS DISTRICTS AND MEMBERS WILL COMB CITY FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS TO LIBERTY LOAN — FOUR-MINUTE MEN SPEAK TONIGHT.

The banks of the city and the local officers in charge of the second Liberty Loan are pleased beyond measure at the generous responses of the people of this community in the purchase of the second Liberty Loan bonds.

A special mark of the patriotism of the women of this city and vicinity is shown in their anxiety to do more than their share in the distribution and placing of this much needed loan. Mrs. Fred Sapp, regent of the D. A. R., Mrs. W. W. Nash, of the W. R. C., and the women chosen to solicit in the various districts, are making a thorough and complete canvass of the territory assigned them and already splendid returns are shown in the effective work they have been doing in the past few days.

Miss Lohmuller, grand regent of the Daughters of Isabella, has assigned territory to the different members of that organization as follows:

Mrs. John Conway, Mrs. E. J. Curtis—North of Lafayette to canal to sidewalk.

Mrs. John Dougherty, Mrs. Isabel Sullivan—West of sidewalk from Lafayette street north.

Mrs. E. L. Byrner, Mrs. J. M. Spillan—East of Columbus from canal north.

Mrs. B. Lohmuller, Mrs. E. J. Kelly—West of Columbus and north of canal.

Unassigned territory—Mrs. Tim Haley, Mrs. Emma Zellers.

The men picked by the Chamber of Commerce to thoroughly comb the city have made some very flattering reports and yesterday some very good sized subscriptions were handed into the different banks of the city. An amazing feature that is very encouraging to the committee is the manner in which they are received and the reception they are given. And few instances are noted where turn downs are recorded.

C. S. Reed, chairman of the main factors' committee, is devoting his entire time to the sale of Liberty Bonds, and is on the job day and night. Postmaster Pougherty and his associates will make a splendid showing when it comes to handing money to Uncle Sam. Andy O'Connor and Jason E. Richardson, who are canvassing the Central Life building, expect to hand in a few whoppers tomorrow. John Berry and John Montgomery, of the labor committee, are doing effective work among the trade unions of the city and when the returns are all in they guarantee the working men of this city will have done even more than their share toward meeting the government expenses during this war crisis.

In a few instances the chairman of the committees have failed to procure the necessary application blanks. Tomorrow will be the last day for these gentlemen to report as it will be necessary to fill their places with men eager and willing to do their share in this great work.

Next week will be farmers' week. Every farmer embraced in the territory to be looked after by Ottawa people will be thoroughly canvassed and every far corner.

and every farmer will be given the opportunity to say whether or not his money is ready for the government at 4 per cent per annum. The committee who will look after the farmers are not worrying, but feel confident that they are ready and willing to do their part in raising sufficient money to the following letter was received at the secretary's office at the Chamber of Commerce today which shows the feelings in the heart of a girl eight years of age. The young lady failed to sign her name fearing she might get in wrong with her parents, but is a gem and worthy of publication. Here is the letter:

Chamber of Commerce:

I read in last night's paper that there a lot of people buying Liberty Bonds and I wish I had money enough to buy one to help our dear soldier boys, but I have not the money, that is enough to buy either a big one or a little one. I have four dollars and a half in my bank that I have been saving to buy a Christmas present for my mother but I know our soldier boys need money now very much and I wondered if I could send my four dollars and a half to the Chamber of Commerce to be sent to our soldiers who went away from Ottawa. I am eight years old and I have a brother in the war and my father does not make very much money. I did not tell my father and mother that I was going to give the money that was in my bank and I don't know whether my father and mother would be angry or not. I hope there won't be any of our soldiers killed in this war.

Four-Minute Men for Tonight.

All of the Four-Minute Men picked by David Cairns to give short talks at the various places of amusement were on the job last night, and altogether more than 2,000 people were impressed by the patriotic talks of Ottawa men.

LIEUT. POOL WRITES FROM FRANCE

With me, as we were evenly divided among the town's people, one being placed in each house. My valiant aviators me in the morning, bringing me a pan of hot water to wash and shave with. He then looks after my shoes and clothes, clean, shining, pressing them, etc. I will be a spoiled person when I get back to the States and have to do those things myself. I have seen so many amusing things about this place that it would take a whole tablet of paper to tell you about them. Will save the whole thing to tell you when I get home.

I am the censor of this letter, for all officers are their own censors, so I do not think anyone else shall read it. Will close for this time and write you again real soon. Expect to get mail from you before long. Am well and hope you are the same.

Love to all,

EXPECT NEXT ARMY QUOTA TO BE MOVED EARLY IN NOVEMBER

WASHINGTON SAYS FINAL INCREMENTS WILL BE DISPATCHED FOR TRAINING WITHIN FEW WEEKS—PREPARE FOR SECOND CALL.

That Ottawa's next increment of fighting men will be sent from the city for Camp Dodge, Ia., within the next two weeks, is indicated today in dispatches from the nation's capital, where governmental machinery is being put in motion for completing the first quota for training in the first or second week of November.

Nothing verifying these reports, however, have been received from the adjutant general's office by members of the local exemption board, and it is highly probable that none will be received until positive arrangements have been made for dispatching the embryo soldiers to the training camps. The dispatch covering the next movement of troops follows:

"Officials of the provost marshal general's office are endeavoring to arrange movement to the cantonments of the final quotas of selectives from all sections of the country immediately after the entrainment of the negro recruits, which begin Oct. 27, and the question of supplies is the only obstacle that presents the completion of the first draft before Nov. 1."

"Arrangements for the second draft are well under way, and while no call is expected before the first of the year, the war department is considering beginning in the early future continuation of the examination of the remaining 7,000,000 eligibles so as to make up a waiting list and establish the liability of registrants."

"No official announcement has been made concerning the regulations to be in force during the next draft, although officers have been working them out for three weeks. One plan that would constitute a class exemption system has already been laid before the field officers of the provost marshal general's staff, who directed the opinion of the first draft."

"While it was said to contain certain undesirable features, it was admitted it would eliminate much of the personal inconvenience and loss affected by the first draft, and probably would bring about a more efficient opinion of the law and relieve the drain upon the nation's war in industries."

"This plan, it is understood, called for the listing of eligibles according to the importance of their occupation to the national emergency and according to the number and character of dependencies they claim. It was drawn up to meet the exigencies of a long time war."

TEACHERS TAKE POSSESSION OF CITY

ery belligerent country has a right to blockade the coast of her enemy, and no neutral country has a right to break it."

Great Britain's blockade of Germany was absolutely in regulation, with this alliance and we had no right to ask her to raise it and let milk into Germany, by so doing we would break out part of the international treaty. You can't build a fence of submarines around a nation and call that a blockade, let no one ever say Germany had a blockade around Great Britain. There never was such a thing. Germany had a hidden fence of submarines, which was in strict regard of the international laws.

Mr. Foss, ended his talk with a beautiful tribute to the American flag, saying it stood for life, liberty and happiness, and was the only flag in the world that has never bowed down to a foreign enemy and at the close of the war Germany would have a different regard for the American war, than her present attitude indicated.

Mr. Foster President.

W. R. Foster, one of the city's best known men in the educational life of the community, was unanimously chosen president of the association at the annual business meeting this afternoon.

Teachers have been arriving from all over the district during the last two days for this meeting. A special train brought 125 from the west this morning. At two o'clock the registration was very close to the 1,500 mark.

The principle business transacted at the afternoon meeting beside the election of officers, was the resolution adopted, voting to take all the money in the treasury at the close of the Ottawa meeting to purchase a Liberty Bond. As the money was still coming in this afternoon, it was impossible to turn in a report of the financial standing of the association until after the close of the meeting, but it is understood the bond will be a good sized one.

Resolutions were also adopted endorsing the hiring of a public health nurse in the rural and city schools. Endorsing and asking all teachers to help in every way with the conservation of food, thanking the board of the Ottawa township high school for the use of their building during the period of the association's meeting in Ottawa. Loyalty to the country and to the President of the United States, and asking every teacher to promote this loyalty in his or her teaching in any way possible, was the substance of the last resolution adopted and probably the most important one.

Amendments were adopted to the constitution making a change in the number of officers elected and making provision for delegates to be sent from this district to the state meeting held each year in Springfield. The number of delegates from this year's meeting will be thirty, the appointment to be made at the close of the meeting.

R. C. Moore, of Springfield, state secretary of the Illinois State Teachers' Association, made a brief address, ratifying the changes made in the constitution by the amendments adopted and impressing upon the teachers the fact that a strong, active, interested teachers' association was absolutely necessary to an educational development to the state of Illinois.

C. H. Kingston made a brief and forceful address on the Liberty Loan, asking every one present to try in every way to do their duty to the government by the purchasing of these bonds so that when the soldiers returned from the front after the war was over they would have a clear conscience and know they did all in their power to help the country win the war.

President McCormick read a communication from the government of the conservation of food, and Miss Edna Dean spoke of the organization of schools for multiple education.

The complete list of officers elected at the meeting today were as follows:

President—W. R. Foster, Ottawa. Vice President—Miss Charlotte Steffen, Princeton. Secretary—H. L. Welker, Granville. Treasurer—John C. Reeder, Geneseo.

Executive Committee—George O. Smith, Princeton; Martin Handy Stearator; J. A. Maloney, Moline. Legislative Committee—T. J. McCormack, La Salle. Appropriation—E. D. Martin, Morris. Resolution—Jennie E. Sturgeon.

Committees Named.

The nominating committee appointed by the president was C. E. Fisher, Rock Island; A. H. Kern, Peru; Miss Anna Renz, Ottawa; A. L. Odenweil, and Miss Catherine Brandt.

The resolution committee was: H. B. Fisher, Streator; T. C. Kohn, La Salle; E. D. Martin, Morris; H. E. Watts, Princeton; Miss Tressa Burghard, La Salle; and Mr. Irving Munson, Springfield.

The committee in charge of the patriotic education in the school were: Miss Edna Doane, La Salle; E. P. Nichols, Lacon; W. C. Roff, Springfield; N. M. Mason, Oglesby; Miss Margaret Poppe, Peru; C. R. Root, Morris; C. J. Byrne, Ottawa; K. M. Snap, Mendota, and Miss Joe Mathew, Streator.

movement that has been sweeping across the country, and consequently an active member and manager he identified himself with this movement here.

The Association has secured the services of Messrs. Hagg and Black, of Chicago, experienced fiscal agents, to supervise enrollment of members. This enterprise should mean quite a little to the business life of the community as not only will a new industry be established, but money that formerly went to Chicago and other places will be kept at home and in circulation. In addition a corps of highly trained packing house employees will be brought to Ottawa, which should prove a very desirable addition to the population.

BODY OF MRS. STILES BURNED TO ASHES

The body of Mrs. Lillian Stiles, the former society woman and beauty who ended her life in Austria, was cremated at the Graveland cemetery in Chicago yesterday in the presence of a small body of mourners. Chief among those at the rites were Miss Anna Berg, her closest companion, and Mrs. William McCartney and Mrs. T. Longmire, two of her friends of recent years.

In accordance with the last wish of Mrs. Stiles expressed in a note to Miss Berg, the latter will take the ashes to New York, where she will cast them upon the surface of the Atlantic ocean. Miss Berg tells of this stoically, with no trace of emotion, except an occasional quaver of her voice. Even during the cremation she remained dry eyed and tight lip, despite the fact that she was the most intimate friend of Mrs. Stiles. She is a governess in the household of Edward N. Hendry, chairman of the shipping board, and expects to join the family in Washington soon. It is on her way there that she will stop and scatter Mrs. Stiles' ashes into the sea.
